FILMS AND BOOKS OF GERALD McDERMOTT

"Anansi the Spider," "The Magic Tree" and "Arrow to the Sun" Three of a cycle of films and books that explore McDermott's interest in folklore and mythology. Gerald McDermott is an author, illustrator and filmmaker who has won world-wide recognition. In these three films he has chosen very impressive mythological—and psychologically fascinating—tales from ancient African and Pueblo Indian tradition and recreated them in his unique style of illustration and film animation.

OCTOBER 1 TWO SEMINARS WITH JOHN H. LANEY

10:00 a.m. PEYOTE ORIGIN LEGENDS: An analysis of origin legends of the Native American Church from a Jungian viewpoint

The Native American Church of North America, also known as the peyote movement, arose during the past century among the reservation Indians of the United States and has become the single most influential religious force among them. John Laney will discuss examples of stories told about the beginnings of the religion. Following the lectures, he and his wife, Edith Laney, who has shared his experience, will present a sample of the peyote music, and some of the ceremonial equipment will be introduced and shown. Mr. Laney has recommended that those attending his seminars read one of his articles on the subject. Copies of his 25-page article ($1.00) will be available at St. Stephen's at 9:15 a.m.

John H. Laney is an analytical psychologist, diplomate of the C. G. Jung Institute, Zurich. He has a background in clinical psychology and has practiced psychotherapy in the San Diego area for twenty years. His personal experience includes many years of ceremonial participation and friendship with the Indians of this movement.

Reservations are required and must be mailed by September 24.

OCTOBER 22 TWO SEMINARS WITH JESS GROESBECK

10:00 a.m. THE SHAMAN, ARCHETYPAL IMAGE OF THE ANALYST AS HEALER

1:30 p.m. THE STRANGE CASE OF RACHAEL: The archetype of the shaman and parapsychological phenomena in analysis

Jess Groesbeck, M.D., is a psychiatrist in private practice in Sacramento; assistant clinical professor of psychiatry, University of California at Davis; professional member of C. G. Jung Institute of San Francisco and of the Society of Jungian Analysts of Northern California; and author of articles in The Journal of Analytical Psychology and other journals. Dr. Groesbeck presented two seminars to us last October, "Jung and Freud as Each Other's Analysts" and "Psychological Types in the Analysis of the Transference."

Reservations are required and must be mailed by October 15.
