 C. G. Jung Society, Seattle
 Winter 1988

Due to financial considerations brought about by decreased attendance at the first half of our annual program, the decision has been made to cancel the lecture and workshop by June Singer, scheduled for March 11-12, 1988. We have enclosed a survey form in this edition of the newsletter in an attempt to determine what kinds of programs are of most interest to our membership.

David Hufford
 Chairman, Program Committee

Please direct your attention to page 6, and take a few minutes to fill out and return the survey. Your responses will be considered most carefully, and will be deeply appreciated.

Masculine and Feminine: Inner and Outer Aspects

This lecture/workshop series presented by distinguished Jungian analysts continues with the Winter session.

The speakers will consider: the influence of archetypal elements, those in-born, a-priori, organizing components of the psyche, in guiding the development of men and women; the inner woman (anima) in men, the inner male (animus) in women; and finally the reciprocal influence of these elements in the individual and in the culture in which the individual lives.

All lectures will be held Friday evenings at Kane Hall, University of Washington campus. Unless otherwise noted, the workshops will be held on Saturdays at the Burke Museum, also on the U.W. campus.

Presented by: Louise Bode, M.A.

Lecture: The Great Round: Archetypal Model of the Feminine

January 22, 1988 7:30 P.M. Kane Hall Room 130

$5.00 for members, students, seniors / $7.00 non-members 1.5 CMEI credits applied for

This lecture will propose that the archetypal basis of the feminine lies in the Great Round, and it is this which we must understand if we are to fully comprehend the nature and power of the feminine. For the Great Round is that cyclic mystery of change which moves from empty to full to empty, from beginning to end to beginning. We see the Great Round in nature, in woman's physiological cycles, in human endeavor, and in the rise and fall of institutions and civilizations. It is eternal and complete; Goddess images are partial glimpses that come and go. Thus to comprehend the Great Round is to comprehend wholeness and to understand why we are fragmented, stuck or neurotic.

Three myths which span the ages of human experience will be examined in depth in order to understand the Great Round and see its implications for our lives and perhaps our immortality.

Workshop: Exploring Feminine Development: Steps and Mis-steps

January 23, 1988 10:00 A.M. — 4:00 P.M. Burke Room, Burke Museum

$40.00 members $50.00 non-members 4.5 CMEI credits applied for

During critical periods of development of the feminine in both men and women, there is a danger of becoming "stuck", with resulting depression, narcissism, and addictia. This workshop will explore these issues.

Presented by: Louise Bode, M.A.

Louise Bode is a Jungian analyst in private practice in Seattle. She is the former director of education at the C. G. Jung Institute in Chicago. Her analytic training was at the C. G. Jung Institute in Zurich.

Events Sponsored by the Program Committee

Presented by: Florence Wiedeman, Ph.D.

Lecture: Animus: The Inner Masculine in Women

February 19, 1988 7:30 P.M. Kane Hall Room 130

$5.00 for members, students, seniors / $7.00 non-members 1.5 CMEI credits applied for

Because of our society and the greater social influence of men, most adult women have excluded many qualities of personal authority and competence from their identity. Individuation, i.e. the successful integration of unconscious complexes over a lifetime, involves the process of achieving unity with the animus and is a prominent element in the therapy of all adult women. As women assume responsibility for qualities projected onto men, we experience a stronger sense of personal authority and self-determination, confidence, and self-esteem.

Workshop: Female Authority and Stages of Animus Development

February 20, 1988 10:00 A.M. — 4:00 P.M. Burke Room, Burke Museum

$40.00 members $50.00 non-members 4.5 CMEI credits applied for

How can we women claim our authority, the validity of truth, beauty and goodness, originating in our own experience? This workshop breaks with deficit thinking in women, and presents a re-visioning of the female self, and details a model of psychotherapy based on five stages of animus development. The stages are: (1) the Alien Other; (2) Father, God, King; (3) Youth, Hero, Lover; (4) the Partner Within; and (5) the Androgyne.

Presented by: Florence Wiedeman, Ph.D.

Dr. Florence Wiedeman is a Jungian analyst from Dallas and author with Dr. Polly Young-Eisendrath of Female Authority. Wiedeman received her Ph.D. from the University of Texas Health Science Center at Dallas and studied at the C. G. Jung Institute in Zurich. She received her analyst diploma from the Inter-Regional Society of Jungian Analysts, where she now serves as Vice-President. She is President-elect of the C. G. Jung Institute of Dallas, and past President of the Analytical Psychology Association of Dallas, and also lectures at Southern Methodist University.

Presented by: June Singer, Ph.D.

Cornish Seminars

The Education Committee presents a program each year. The seminars are kept small so as to facilitate informal discussion, and permit an open dialogue. Unless otherwise noted, events are held at the Cornish North facilities on Monday nights at 7:30 P.M. Events are open to the general public, and cost $3.00 for members and non-members.

The Gods and Goddesses A Series of Six Seminars Alternate Monday evenings at 7:30 P.M. January 11 — March 21, 1988

A series of six presentations, viewing the collective unconscious through the myths and gods of mankind, this series will explore Jungian concepts in order to provide an understanding of the way these shared images from antiquity affect us in our daily lives today.

January 11, 1988 William Levy, M.D. Hermes We will begin the seminar series with a discussion of Hermes, the Greek god of thresholds, doorways, and journeys. Dr. Levy is a Jungian oriented psychiatrist in private practice in Seattle.	January 25, 1988 Bette Joram, M.Ed. Dionysus Dionysus is most commonly associated with wine and intoxication. But there are other attributes of this god which may make him one of the most prevalent but misunderstood archetypes operating in our society today. We will look beyond the wine to see if we can find clues to the source of its power. Bette Joram, M.Ed., is a therapist in private practice. Her therapeutic orientation is Jungian, in which she explores archetypes and dreams within the context of the individual.	February 8, 1988 William Willeford, Ph.D. Zeus and Hera Squabbling and sacred marriage. This presentation will attempt to bring some understanding of what these figures meant to the ancient Greeks, especially as the two dramatize relations between Father World and Mother World. William Willeford, Ph.D., is a Jungian analyst, and Associate Professor of English and Comparative Literature at the University of Washington. He is the author of The Fool and his Scepter and Feeling, Imagination, and the Self.
February 22, 1988 Celia Hartley Demeter The mystery rites of Eleusis in ancient Greece grew out of the myth of Demeter, goddess of fruitfulness, and her daughter Persephone, stolen from her to become Queen of the Underworld. This presentation will examine this powerful myth with its containing values in separation and loss, reunion and transformation.	March 7, 1988 Louise Bode, M.A. Aphrodite To the ancient Greeks, Aphrodite embodied the mystery of love and life itself. This presentation will examine what the goddess carries for us in relationships and the passion of all creativity. The work of the shadow and its projection will be given special attention. Louise Bode is a Jungian analyst in private practice in Seattle.	March 21, 1988 William Levy, M.D. Conclusions This concluding evening of the series will include a "wrap-up" of the classical Jungian concepts brought out during our examination of ancient myths and gods. A discussion will follow.

A Film and Discussion on Dora Kalff

January 18, 1988 7:30 P.M. Cornish Institute

$3.00 for members and non-members

Dora Kalff, the subject of this film and discussion, originated the technique of sandplay therapy for children and adults. Both of the presenters studied with Mrs. Kalff in Switzerland.

Presented by: William H. Levy, M.D.

Lecture: The Collective Unconscious — Myth or Madness

March 18, 1988 7:30 P.M. Kane Hall

$5.00 for members, students, seniors / $7.00 non-members

The Collective Unconscious: a vast reservoir of the collective memories of mankind, all of the myths and madness, all the gods and devils, the source of all human creativity, and more. What is it? Is it real or just a theory? How does one access it? What effect can it have on modern man in everyday life? These are questions that this talk will address. In addition the concepts of right and left brain and the development of consciousness in man as developed by Julian Jaynes will be considered from a Jungian perspective.

Presented by: William H. Levy, M.D.

Dr. Levy is a Jungian oriented psychiatrist in private practice in Seattle. He is board certified by the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology in Psychiatry and has had training in both the Southern California Psychoanalytic Institute and the C. G. Jung Institute in Los Angeles. He is on the clinical faculty of the UCLA School of Medicine. Dr. Levy is currently the president of the C. G. Jung Society, Seattle.

Presented by: John Radecki, M.A.

Lecture: Individuation and the Kundalini Chakra System

March 28, 1988 7:30 P.M. Cornish Institute

$3.00 for members and non-members

Jung's description of Individuation, or the emergence of the Self in the individual, includes the most basic process of projection and its gradual withdrawal 'from the world'. Jung drew deeply from the wealth of experience in the East as well as his own European tradition in order to find an adequate framework for articulating this process.

The Kundalini Chakra system, born in India thousands of years ago, can offer such a framework via its rich and complex symbolism. The system can help us in the West to understand the nature of projection, its withdrawal, and its place in the life-long task of Individuation.

The purpose of the evening will be to show a little of the beauty and depth of Kundalini that is accessible to a Westerner and to illustrate, by story, personal experience and by appeal to the symbols themselves, how the chakras are such a framework for understanding the process and effects of projection and its withdrawal.

John Radecki lives in Kirkland where he has a private practice. He has travelled to and lived in different parts of the world including Australia and India. Much of the seminar's content is the fruit of such journeys.

Our librarian, Bob Maletta, is leaving. He has accepted an offer to go to Somalia to work with the AFSC in the villages to improve their agriculture and marketing. We wish him well in his new ventures.

I find myself in possession of a list of tasks, not the least of which concerns books which are long overdue. Muttering a few incantations, for surely magic is the only solution to this task, I have managed to raise two archetypes equal to the job at hand: the Librarian and the Jewish Mother. In a hushed voice, the Librarian asks that you please return your overdue materials, and that any volunteers please contact her.

For those who do not return materials before the inventory is taken, the Librarian has turned over the collection of fines to the Jewish Mother. You will be contacted personally, and fines will be requested in terms of time commitment to work on parts of The List. The Librarian will be requesting suggestions for and donations of materials, etc. after we have had a chance to take inventory and put our house in order. Please call me at 937-6830 with any questions you may have.
