

C. G. Jung Society, Seattle

NEWSLETTER

Fall 1989

A LETTER TO MEMBERS

Dear Friends,

As the C.G. Jung Society, Seattle begins its 18th yearly series of programs, I want to extend greetings to you all from the Board of Directors. Our Annual Meeting was held Saturday, May 6. At that time, we elected the following:

Celia Hartley, President
Dean Brooks, Vice-President
Diane Nelson-Bogue, Secretary- Treasurer
Mardonna Austin-McKillop
Bunny Brown
Lynn Fuller
Bette Joram
Ken Kimmel
Bill Levy

Our committee reports and annual financial statement were presented and are open to any member who wishes to see them. We begin our '89-'90 program with our library now located at Cornish North and available to members during events scheduled at this location. An annex with additional books and reference material has been established at the home of Diane Kumfermann, our new Administrative Secretary whom we welcomed aboard in June. To make arrangements to visit the "Reading/Research Room" you can reach Diane through the society's telephone, 782-6877.

Our fall program is an exciting one and plans for Winter and Spring of 1990 will again bring people and subjects that we hope you want to hear. It is our intention to be a responsive organization, therefore we will welcome and consider your ideas and suggestions. You may write to us with these or if you just want to chat about the Jung Society, my telephone is 282-1601.

Sincerely, Celia

Jung felt that uniting the opposites - conscious and unconscious, light and dark, good and evil - will be the spiritual task of the Aquarian age. To reach this difficult goal, we must first become conscious of the reality of evil. Identifying with the good, light, true and beautiful or denying what lives in the unsavory dark have ceased to be viable options. Only by facing the shadow squarely can we become equal to our awesome ethical burden, for we have stolen the power to destroy the planet from the gods. The book Dr. Dallett is writing, "Saturday's Child", walks around the problem of evil as Dr. Dallett meets it in her life and work as a Jungian analyst. Three chapters are finished: "What Rough Beast" introduces the subject; "Lillith" is about the contemporary eruption into consciousness of the legendary demon-goddess reputed to have been Adam's first wife; and "Falling" tells of the birth of healing from suffering in a little girl's relationship with her narcissistic older brother. Dr. Dallett's presentation will select parts of this material and/or chapters in progress.

People who plan to take part in the workshop are urged to attend Friday night's lecture. Beginning with the participants' responses to the lecture, Dr. Dallett will go further into these issues. One or more additional chapters of the book will also be offered, but Friday's material will not be repeated. Recommended reading includes Jung's Answer to Job, Aion and the first two chapters of Memories, Dreams, and Reflections. If you request a reading list and send in a self addressed envelope when you register (in advance) for the workshop we will be glad to provide it.

Janet O. Dallett, Ph.D., is a graduate and member of the C. G. Jung Institute in Los Angeles, where she taught for many years and was Director of Training. Her doctorate in psychology is from UCLA. She has authored many books and articles including her recently published When the Spirits Come Back as well as a book of poems. She lives, writes, and practices Jungian analysis in the Pacific Northwest.

CENTERPOINT
INTRODUCTORY MEETING
Monday Sept. 25, 1989
CORNISH NORTH
1501 10th Ave. E. 7:30 P.M.
FREE OF CHARGE

Centerpoint is a personal study program for those who find the psychology of C.G. Jung compatible with their own thinking and want to join with a small group to pursue their own inner journey. Participants hope to find their own relations to Jungian understanding, fairy tales, myths, and dreams. The groups meet every week or so, and listen to and discuss one of 18 taped sessions. The self-paced course can take as little as 18 Weeks, or as long as nine months. Each person keeps a journal of dreams and other reflections during the course of the program. However, this is NOT a dream therapy group. The course costs $60.00; a notebook of transcripts and study materials is provided. Bring your questions and enthusiasms to this organizational meeting. Contact Bunny Brown, 632-4892, for further information.

These seminars will attempt to provide an in-depth view of C.G. Jung's concept of psychological types. The general theory of types will be discussed and participants will be given the opportunity to take a self-scored test to help determine their own type. Each of the eight types will be discussed, and participants may share what it is like to experience their particular type.

Dr. Levy is a Jungian oriented psychiatrist in private practice in Seattle & Kent. He is board certified by the American Board Of Psychiatry and Neurology in Psychiatry and has had training from both the Southern California Psychoanalytic Institute and the C. G. Jung Institute in Los Angeles. Dr. Levy is a past president of the C.G. Jung Society Seattle.

AUTHENTIC MOVEMENT
& WITNESSING

Saturday, October 7
CORNISH NORTH
1501 10th Ave. E.
10:00 A.M. To 4:00 P.M.

$40 member $50 non-members

The discipline of Authentic Movement asks us to listen to the impulses, images and the feelings deep within and give form to them through our bodies. Listening with eyes closed and in the presence of a compassionate witness, the mover will express through the body and breath the knowledge that comes from this kind of listening and acknowledging of the Self. As Jung stated, Psyche and matter are "...two different aspects of one and the same thing." The relationship between the mover and the witness creates a temenos, a sacred container for the creative, healing, and meditative aspects of both mover and witness to emerge and be expressed. Authentic Movement invites each us to know more fully our individual dance and our part in the collective dance. No previous movement or dance experience is necessary for this one day workshop. Wear comfortable clothes for moving. Enrollment is limited.

Lynn Fuller is a psychotherapist in private practice in Seattle and Poulsbo. Licensed as a California Marriage, Family, and Child Therapist, Lynn's practice emphasizes in-depth psychotherapy with individuals, couples, children and groups using Authentic Movement and Jungian psychology. She has been practicing Authentic Movement as a personal discipline for eleven years and has been teaching the form to others in California and Washington for the past six years.

REALITIES OF THE
SELF*Wednesday, October 18
CORNISH NORTH*1501 10th Ave. E. 7:30 P.M.*$3 members / $5 non-members

In these modern times, sometimes called the "New Age" We are exposed to many views and interpretations of Incarnation or even Reincarnation. We hear of Channels, Spiritual Guides, Past Lives, Spiritual Media, Supreme Consciousness, becoming one with the Light, and so on. What seems to be missing, and dangerously so, in most of these claims to embodying the Divine Spirit, is any awareness of the complex psychology involved when a person in the Western tradition is exposed to what Jung would call an aspect of the Self.

This presentation addresses this issue of incarnation of the Self from the point of view of Jungian psychology. Mr. Radecki will attempt to show what happens psychologically when a person is engaged in the process of the incarnation of the Self. Further, he will show what ethical stance is imperative for the person to adopt in the face of such events.

Participants will find it very helpful to review the film

A LECTURE & WORKSHOP WITH NATHAN SCHWARTZ-SALANT, PH.D.*LECTURE:*THE USEFULNESS OF

"Children of a Lesser God" (in video), reviewing Edward Edinger's Ego and Archetype, the section on ego and self relations, as well as Jung's examination of the individuation process before attending the workshop.

John Radecki lives in Kirkland where he has a private practice. He has travelled to and lived in different parts of the world including Australia and India. It is from his travels to the East, as well as from his own inner explorations, that John has discovered an abiding interest in the mystery of the relationship between man and God.

WORKSHOP*THE FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES OF ALCHEMY & THEIR CLINICAL
IMPORTANCE*Saturday November 18
10:00 A.M. To 4:00 P.M.*CORNISH NORTH*1501 10th Ave. E.*$50 member $60 non-member

The basic principles of alchemy as rooted in the time period of 400 B.C. to 200 A.D. will be discussed with reference to their application in psychotherapy. Those principles and their extension will later be discussed with reference to the 10th Century alchemical text "The Splendor Solis." For those interested in studying the subjects of this presentation these readings are suggested: C.G. Jung: Psychology and Alchemy, Vol.12 Collected Works and Schwartz-Salant: The Borderline Personality Vision & Healing.

Nathan Schwartz-Salant is a Jungian analyst practicing in New York City and Princeton. He is the author of Narcissism and Character Transformation and the recently published book The Borderline Personality, Vision and Healing. He has a Ph.D. from the U. C., Berkeley, and a Diploma in Analytical Psychology from the C.G. Jung Institute in Zurich. He is co-editor of the Chiron Clinical Series, and Director of the Salant Foundation and the Center for Analytical Psychology in Princeton.

The Wisdom of The Dream has been made with the cooperation of the Jung Institutes in Switzerland, Britain, and the United States. The film includes interview material from: Professor C.A. Meier, Dr. Gerhard Adler, Dr. Marie-Louise von Franz, Mrs. Aniela Jaffee, Dr. Joseph Henderson, and Dr. Joe and Mrs. Jane Wheelwright. Major contributions to the film were made by Dr. James Hillman, Dr. Edward Edinger, Dr. Harry Wilmer, Dr. Johh Beebe, Mrs. Dora Kalff, and Robert Johnson.

The film also includes restored, previously unseen footage of Jung in Africa and at Eranos. In addition there are extracts from Jung's interview with Dr.

Richard Evans in 1957 never seen before in a public medium and sequences shot in Jung's library and consulting room, at the lakeside in Bollingen and at the Swiss National Carnival of Fasnacht, and in Jung's home town, Basel. It also contains location filming which retraces Jung's journeys in pursuit of the collective unconscious and the meaning of mythology and paintings by Jung's own patients from the Picture Archive of the Jung Institute, Kusnacht, Switzerland. In addition to the screening, Stephen Segaller and Merrill Berger, Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology, will each give a presentation considering aspects of the Jungian filmmaking experience from the different perspectives of producer-director and psychologist. Along with the release of the film, the book The Wisdom of The Dream will be published by Shambhala Publications of Boston in October 1989. The content and style of this new book are designed to introduce Jung to those who know nothing of his work. The book is co-authored by Stephen Segaller and Merrill Berger.

The exact times of the film's showings and the cost of tickets are not known as this newsletter goes to press. The society will send a flyer in November with further details, but mark your calendars well in advance. You won't want to miss this one.

Stephen Segaller, an independent documentary producer, had a background in current affairs reporting before turning to documentary projects which concern religion, psychology, and the inner life. He produced, directed, and brought film series "Gnostics" to the C.G. Jung Society, Seattle last year.

Dr. Merrill Berger has a private practice in individual, child, and family psychotherapy in London and Boston, and draws substantially on Jung's work. Dr. Berger was the program associate for the series.

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

In a century of discovery, of scientific expansion, of political conflict and catastrophic destruction, one man's voice sounds clearer and clearer.

C. G. Jung entered the inner reaches of the human mind, to touch the human heart. He learned that by honestly facing personal conflicts on the most everyday level, we can confront the deep set spiritual problems of universal human concern.

At a time when others sought precise answers and certainty, he probed into the unknowable mysteries of love and healing.

When so many devoted their genius to creating the means to destroy the world, he went inward on a lonely and dangerous journey, discovering those creative synthesizing forces within the human psyche that might enable the world to survive.

Jung's life, his mission, his voice, and his personal experience are a challenge and a source of illuminating hope in this dark and perilous time.

This newsletter is published three times a year by the C. G. Jung Society, Seattle, a non-profit educational corporation since 1972. The purpose of the Society is to promote the interest in and an understanding of analytical psychology and the current use of Jungian concepts by contemporary thinkers through lectures, seminars, study groups, and the maintenance of a library. By exploring these viewpoints we hope to better understand ourselves and gain new insights into our relationships, our culture and our world.

Programs are, for the most part, intended for the general public.
